General Tax Calendar

This tax calendar has the due dates for 2016 that most taxpayers will need. Employers and persons who pay excise taxes also should use the Employer's Tax Calendar and the Excise Tax Calendar .

Fiscal-year taxpayers. If you file your income tax return for a fiscal year rather than the calendar year, you must change some of the dates in this calendar. These changes are described under Fiscal-Year Taxpayers at the end of this calendar.

First Quarter

The first quarter of a calendar year is made up of January, February, and March.

Second Quarter

The second quarter of a calendar year is made up of April, May, and June.

Third Quarter

The third quarter of a calendar year is made up of July, August, and September.

Fourth Quarter

The fourth quarter of a calendar year is made up of October, November, and December.

Fiscal-Year Taxpayers

If you use a fiscal year (rather than the calendar year) as your tax year, you should change some of the dates in this calendar. Use the following general guidelines to make these changes.

TIP

The 3 months that make up each quarter of a fiscal year may be different from those of each calendar quarter, depending on when the fiscal year begins. Also see Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, earlier.

Individuals

Form 1040. This form is due on the 15th day of the 4th month after the end of your tax year. Form 4868 is used to request an extension of time to file Form 1040.

Estimated tax payments (Form 1040-ES). Payments are due on the 15th day of the 4th, 6th, and 9th months of your tax year and on the 15th day of the 1st month after your tax year ends.

Partnerships

Form 1065. This form is due on the 15th day of the 4th month after the end of the partnership's tax year. Provide each partner with a copy of their Schedule K-1 (Form 1065) or substitute Schedule K-1 (Form 1065) by the 15th day of the 4th month after the end of the partnership's tax year. Form 7004 is used to request an automatic 6-month extension of time to file Form 1065.

Form 1065-B (electing large partnerships). This form is due on the 15th day of the 4th month after the end of the partnership's tax year. Provide each partner with a copy of their Schedule K-1 (Form 1065-B) or substitute Schedule K-1 (Form 1065-B) by the first March 15 following the close of the partnership's tax year. This due date for filing Schedule K-1 (Form 1065-B) applies even if the partnership requests an extension of time to file Form 1065-B. Form 7004 is used to request an automatic 6-month extension of time to file Form 1065-B.

EXHIBIT B-2

Section 1:
Filing for Unemployment Insurance (UI) Benefits

What is Unemployment Insurance?
Unemployment Insurance is not public assistance, or an entitlement program. Unemployment Insurance benefits replace part of your lost income if you lose your job through no fault of your own. Employers pay all costs of the Unemployment Insurance program. Taxes are not withheld from employee paychecks.

What does it mean to be unemployed?
We consider you unemployed any week that you work fewer than 40 hours and earn less than your weekly benefit amount.

How do I qualify?
There are two ways to qualify:

1: You must have earned at least $1,000 in wages from employers subject to UI law AND have total base year wages that equal or exceed one and a half times the wages paid in the highest calendar quarter of the base year.

OR

2: If you don't qualify the first way, you may qualify for a valid claim if you have some wages and worked at least 500 hours in employment subject to UI law during the base year.

What is a base year and calendar quarter?
The base year is the one-year period your claim is based on. Your base year is determined by the date you file your initial claim application, not the date you become unemployed.

A calendar quarter is a 3-month period ending March 31, June 30, September 30 or December 31.

How do I file my initial claim application?
You can file online using the Online Claims System at:
www.Employment.Oregon.gov/ocs
